Property Management - Residential

THE HIGHLIGHTS

Plett Management's building is a commercial apartment complex located on the corner of North Central Regina. Even with cameras installed, vandalism, break-ins, and squatters had become increasingly common. The property owners were not sure how to turn their investment around into a safe place for their tenants to live. Luckily, they were referred to Tribal Security.

After a discussion about their options, they choose to take advantage of our mobile patrol service, with property checks 3 times a night. Our security guard walked through their building every night, making sure the doors were locked, squatters or unwanted guests were escorted out, and any needles were picked up. We recorded and reported any suspicious activity and worked with the property managers to improve the overall security and safety of the building.

After 2 months, between mobile checks and tenant evictions, the building was safe and secure. We were successful in eliminating the problem, and are only needed for special events and emergencies.
